Next Tuesday is the day for the ground hog to emerge.

There are now two Democratic candidates for State Senator in the district to the west of us. Senator S. R. Glenn, of Lyon, seeks re-election and R. W. Durham, of Calloway, has just announced. Prof. B. E. Thom, of Trigg county, is a possible candidate also.

Tom Dwyer, of Nashville, was appointed to a government position in Washington and one of his friends made a bet that he would eat with the President before he had been there a month. He won the bet, for Dwyer attended a Y. M. C. A. dinner in a rally campaign at which the President was an honored guest, but it cost him $29.25 to get in and get out.

Judge Gus Thomas, of Mayfield, has withdrawn from the race for circuit judge and has announced his candidacy for judge of the Court of Appeals. Judge Thomas is recognized everywhere as a high class lawyer and his entrance into a race believed to have been made up with Judge J. F. Gordon and Judge C. S. Napp as the only candidates, will at once call for a complete revision of all estimates of the result. Judge Thomas' position in the district of 18 counties will necessarily make him a contending candidate, if his home people rally to his support and there is hardly a doubt that they will.

STICKS OF DYNAMITE

Exploded Near a Negro Cabin at Kirkmansville.

Two or three sticks of dynamite were exploded at the back door of some negro women who live in the suburbs of Kirkmansville, Todd county, one night during the early part of the week. No one was injured by the explosion, though some dishes were knocked off the table inside the house. No explanation has been offered for the explosion.

PADUCAH HAS SENSATION

W. B. St. John, While Drunk, Attempts To Rob a Bank.

OFFICIALS DISARMED HIM.

Made a Botch of An Attempt To Play Bandit Last Wednesday.

Paducah, Ky., Jan. 29.—In accepted bandit style a lone-handed attempt was made early Wednesday afternoon to rob the First National Bank by a stranger, who gave his name as W. B. St. John, of Fulton. The bank officers and employees were quick to perceive that the bandit was inexperienced and easily disarmed him without anybody being injured, and he was placed in the county jail.

St. John appeared in front of the bank in a taxicab about 2 o'clock, and entering the building presented a long pistol at Assistant Cashier George Warfield and commanded him to hand over the money. Although excited Warfield played for time and engaged the bandit in conversation while Cashier Nolin Van Culin slipped out of his cage and, approaching from the rear, grabbed St. John, whom he disarmed with the assistance of Frank Davis, an insurance agent, who was in the bank. An alarm sent to the police station brought several patrolmen and detectives to the scene, and St. John was arrested and placed in the county jail.

Police officials said that the man was intoxicated. The only statement he made was "I pulled a bone." A warrant issued against him charges of attempted bank robbery.

The affair attracted hundreds of people to the bank and many reports flashed over the city, some that the robber had been killed and others that the bank had been robbed. The alleged robbery was attempted just as the bank was closing business for the day, and several thousand dollars in silver and currency was stacked on the inside counters.

Police officials believe that St. John had read of successful daylight bank robberies, and had concluded that he could rob the local bank in a similar way and get away. He made no attempt to fire his pistol, and is believed to have seen his mistake when Warfield did not hand him the money when it was demanded.

At the police station an employee of the City National Bank stated that St. John entered the latter bank shortly before 2 o'clock, and after closely scrutinizing the interior disappeared. There was a large crowd in the bank at the time, and it is believed that fact prevented him from trying to rob the City National.

Never In Trouble.

Fulton, Ky., Jan. 29.—W. B. St. John, of this place, who is said to be under arrest in Paducah for an attempt to rob a bank there, was born and reared here. So far as known, he has never before been in trouble. He comes of a good family. Recently he returned from the army, and has been doing odd jobs since. He is about 25 years old.

Coming Championship Contest To Be Great High School Event.

During the past week busy preparations have been under progress, by the students of the High School, for the Western Kentucky Oratorical contest, which will be held on Feb. 26, in this city. This will be the first time the association has met in Hopkinsville since 1908.

The Oratorical League comprises Hopkinsville, Madisonville, Henderson, Owensboro, Paducah, Princeton and Dawson. All of these cities will be represented in the contest this year.

The Hopkinsville High School will hold its regular annual preliminary on Feb. 19 to select the orator who will uphold the standards of the orange and black in the fight for the medal. As yet the names of the speakers who will enter the preliminary have not been announced, but a number of the most promising orators in the High School have declared their intentions of trying for the honor.

Accompanying the contestants, a large number of rooters from the different High Schools represented, is always present and a record breaking attendance is expected at this year's contest. The contest is always the biggest High School event of the year in Western Kentucky.

Circuit Judge J. T. Hanbery Issues a Card To The Voters of District.

ASKS FOR ENDORSEMENT.

Promises Continuation Of His Best Efforts In His High Office.

To the voters of the Third Judicial District of Kentucky:

Six years ago when I asked you to elect me to the office of Judge of Third Circuit Court District of Kentucky, I promised you that in event of my election, my efforts would be to administer the affairs of that high office in such a way that justice would be done alike both to the rich and the poor, looking only to the law as my guide.

In your generous response to that request you made me the nominee of the Democratic party and in November 1909 you elected me to that office by a majority which was almost twice as large as that given to any previous candidate for the same office, all of which overwhelmed me with such a debt of gratitude that, labor with what zeal I may, I can never pay that debt.

But as a credit against that great indebtedness, I beg to submit that in the administration of the affairs of that office I have given you the best efforts of my life, and if those efforts have succeeded I am proud of the success, but if they have failed I have the consolation of knowing that I have done my best. However, this question of success or failure I submit to you for your decision.

I now announce my candidacy for a second term for the office of Judge of the Third Circuit Court District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party; and in the event of my nomination and election, I pledge you a continuation of my past efforts to administer justice alike to all people, regardless of color, social position, wealth, or party affiliation.

Again I thank you for your past support, and ask all persons who affiliate with the Democratic party for their support at the August primary, and if I am the nominee of that party I ask and beg the support of all the voters at the general election to be held in November 1915.

Most Respectfully yours,

J. T. HANBERY.

SUCCESSOR NOT YET KNOWN.

Came Four Months Ago And Was Making a Good Record.

County Agriculturist G. C. Richardson, who came here last October, has been transferred to Boyd county by the farm demonstration department, of which Dr. Fred Mutchler is the head. Mr. Richardson is a fine young fellow, genial and affable, and lost no time in "catching on" in this county. Just why he is to be taken away from us is not explained, but a successor will of course be chosen when a suitable man is found. The place pays $1,500 a year, the appropriation being made annually in March by the fiscal court.

ANOTHER ICE SPELL

Thick Enough To Put Up And Skating Is Fine For The Boys.

The cold weather all this week has made another fine ice spell and the owners of ice houses who did not fill them in December now have another good opportunity.

The freezing weather came after the snow and there is no snow on the ice. All of the ponds in the vicinity of town are frozen over and many skating parties of young people are going out to skate. The river bed has no body of water in it large enough to afford skating, as the bridge dam has not been closed for many months. One of the chief purposes of the river improvements of three years ago was to afford skating in winter for the young people, but this is not possible this winter.

Toll of The Rails.

Washington, Jan. 29.—During the year ending June 30, last, a total of 10,392 persons, including 276 passengers, lost their lives in accidents on railroads and in railroad shops reporting to the interstate commerce committee. In addition 162,662 persons were injured, of whom 15,121 were passengers. In the preceding year 10,964 persons, including 403 passengers, were killed and 200,308 persons, including 16,539 passengers were injured.

GOODBYE TO THESE

Some of The Hopkinsville Citizens Who Have Moved Away.

In the early part of every year there are certain changes of citizens, some moving away and others coming in. During the present month and just preceding, Hopkinsville has lost quite a number of well-known people, including some of the most prominent men in the city. It is true their places have been filled by the numerous newcomers who have stepped into vacancies created and many other families have been added to the population, but those leaving are missed all the same and the Kentuckian regrets to see them move away. Following are those whose names occur at this time, who have already gone or are to go soon: Rev. H. D. Smith and family, Rev. C. H. H. Branch and family, Hon. John F. Bible, J. W. Buck and family, W. A. Davis and wife, G. C. Richardson, C. H. Bleich and family, Robert Cooper, B. A. Gooch, A. C. Choate and family.

NEAR CRAONNE

Despite Fierce Attacks Few Change in Positions Are Made.

20,000 GERMAN LOSSES.

Austrians Claim Check for Russian Invasion of Hungary.

London, Jan. 29.—Although no big battles have been fought of late, there have been engagements in all the arenas from Asiatic Turkey to the English channel, in which the losses in men and materials, probably have been greater in the aggregate than in many of the battles of history.

According to French reports, German attacks against the allied lines in Flanders, France and Alsace on the first three days of the week cost them 20,000 men, to which must be added the losses suffered in repeated attacks on the Russian entrenchments in Central Poland.

All attacks in the west, the allies' announcements say, failed except near Craonne, where it is admitted the French lost 800 men, largely because of the collapse of an old quarry.

The Germans, on the other hand, assert that they inflicted a severe defeat on the French at Craonne, and that they repulsed all French attacks in the Vosges and upper Alsace, with heavy losses.

While it is evident these attacks and counter attacks cost both sides heavily, they made no great difference in the relative positions of the opposing armies. They convey the intimation, however, that the Germans by no means have given up the idea of delivering a smashing blow at the allied armies.

In the east interest centers in the Carpathians, where the Austro-Germans have brought up new armies to oppose the Russian invasion of Hungary. According to announcements in Vienna they have captured some of the passes the Russians were holding in strength.

While the Russians do not relish giving up any ground gained, they declare this is compensated by the fact that their aggressiveness has compelled the Austro-Germans to postpone the expedition they were preparing to crush Serbia. Russia hopes Rumania, with her financial position guaranteed by the recent London loan of $25,000,000 soon will send her army into the field and form the missing link between Russia and Serbia.

The Turks, by bringing up their fifth army corps, have resumed the offensive in the Caucasus, but a Russian report says they have suffered another setback. Nothing further has been heard of the Turkish army invading Egypt.

The British admiralty tonight issued a formal denial of German reports that some British ships have been sunk in Sunday's North sea naval battle. The admiralty adheres to its former statement that all the British vessels engaged returned safely.

The same department also denies a story from the United States that the German cruiser Von Der Tann was sunk by the British battle cruiser Invincible in the South Atlantic, and says there has been no engagement between these vessels.

good effects of government by com-

Dime Dishonesty.

In a small eastern town, the other day, a grocer with a disagreeable curiosity regarding human nature set a trap for his brethren and sisters. Twenty-five were tempted with dimes slipped into their change and then closely watched to see what they would do about it.

Seven men and one woman pocketed the change uncounted and never knew of the bait.

Four men and two women noticed the extra change and returned it.

Eleven succumbed to greed and, unconscious of the watch upon them pocketed the illicit gain.

Then the grocer whispered the result to a friend or two in absolute confidence, and soon everybody in the town knew all about it.

Even happier than those who demonstrated their rectitude are the eight whose indifference to lucre made them winners without blame.

Unhappy indeed are the detected pilferers, but probably sorer still are the remaining 2,012 inhabitants who missed the chance to make either a dime or a record.

The cunning grocer prying into the honesty of his neighbors must be given credit at least for willingness to risk real money in the test.

Most people form their opinions of their neighbors with less risk and less watchfulness.—Owensboro Inquirer.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 69.

Enterprising Young Merchant
Who Is Manager of a Leading Furniture House.

In connection with this article appears a portrait of Leslie P'Pool, of the furniture house of W. A. P'Pool & Son, on Main street. Hopkinsville is noted for its many enterprising and wide-awake young business men, young men who are putting new blood and up-to-date ideas into the work of making Hopkinsville the most prosperous city in Kentucky.

In almost every line, young men are at the helm and with zeal, enthusiasm and boundless energy are making for themselves places in the busy commercial life of the one city in all Kentucky that is looked to by all other cities as their criterion in progress, law enforcement and good government. In this class stands Leslie P'Pool, and his business career has been a series of advancements from a modest beginning to a position of prominence and influence in business. He comes from old Scotch ancestry. His grandfather was the late Esquire James M. P'Pool, who came to this county from Virginia in 1835, and worked his way to success and prominence. He settled in the western part of the county, near Bainbridge, and during his long life filled many positions of honor and trust. For many years he was a justice of the peace and was an influential Democrat and was prominent in church affairs and a leader in all public movements. He reared a large family of children and his sons, like their father, became men of standing and influence. Wiley A. P'Pool, one of the older sons, was in the mercantile business at Bainbridge when a young man. It was while his parents were living at that place that the subject of this sketch was born Nov. 20, 1875. His childhood was spent on a farm, for a few years, until his father removed to this city in 1882, the year of the big fire. For more than 30 years Mr. P'Pool has lived in Hopkinsville.

It is not out of the way in passing to explain the peculiarity in the spelling of the name P'Pool. Originally the name was spelled Petty-pool, in Scotland, but just as the prefix Mac was abbreviated into Mc the first part of the name P'Pool was dropped and came to be represented by the present form of the name. In pronouncing the name, the extra letter is ignored and it is pronounced the same as the names Pool and Poole, which are quite common in this section of the state. So far as known, these branches are not closely related to the branch of the family of which Leslie P'Pool is a representative.

As a boy, Leslie attended the public schools of Hopkinsville before the course included the high school and later continued his studies in South Kentucky College and in Maj. J. O. Ferrell's High School. Subsequently he took a business course in a school at Nashville and started in business by buying out the hardware store of A. J. Meador in 1905. He continued in the hardware business with his father until 1912, but for two years lived in Chattanooga, Tenn., where he had an interest in the C. M. P'Pool Hardware Co., of that city. But all the time his thoughts were turning back to "The Old Kentucky Home," and early in the year 1914 he made two important moves, both destined to be turning points in his career.

He returned to Hopkinsville and a little later took unto himself a wife. The latter event transferred on May 12, 1914, when he was married to Miss Gertrude Reit, a charming and most attractive young lady of Los Angeles, California.

The firm of W. A. P'Pool & Son, bought out the old establishment furniture house of Renshaw & Harton, last spring, and they have enlarged and improved the stock in many respects. The firm carries a complete line of furniture, house furnishings and undertaking goods. Leslie P'Pool is the active manager, assisted by H. L. Harton, who has especial charge of the undertaking department. The firm is rapidly expanding its business by close attention, fair dealing and a liberal use of printers' ink. Its place of business is on the east side of Main street, between Seventh and Eighth streets.

Mr P'Pool has recently gone to housekeeping in a cottage on South Virginia street and starts into the good year 1915 with a happy home, a prosperous business and a legion of friends. What more could a young man desire?

He is a member of the Elks and Masonic lodges and also of the Woodmen of the World and the Modern Woodmen of America. He is popular as a ledge man, highly esteemed as a citizen and as a business man has the confidence and good opinion of the public.

PRESIDENT SENDS VETO

Tells Congress In Special Message Why He Disapproves Immigration Bill.

CHARACTER SHOULD BE TEST.

Illiterates May Be Seeking Education Here Denied Them
In Their Own Lands.

Washington, Jan. 29.—President Wilson yesterday vetoed the immigration bill and sent a special message to congress saying that he disapproved of a literacy test.

"In this bill," he said, "it is proposed to turn away from tests of character and quality and impose a test which would exclude and restrict those who come seeking opportunity, and would not be admitted unless they have already had one of the chief opportunities they seek—the opportunity of education.

"If the people have made up their minds to reverse the policy of a generation before them, it is their right, but I do not believe they have.

"Let the party platforms speak out and the people will pronounce their wish.

"I will abide by their verdict. I have no pride of opinion on the subject. I only want instruction direct from those whose fortunes with ours and all men are involved."

Representative Burnett said he would move to have the bill passed over the president's veto.

Birmingham Bank Bursts.

The Jefferson County Savings bank, one of the oldest banks of Birmingham, Ala., occupying the first floor of a twenty five story building, did not open Friday. Assurance is given that no depositor or creditor will lose anything. The bank has a surplus of a quarter of a million, assets $1,750,000 and deposits $1,250,000.

Going To Versailles.

Mrs. W. A. Davis will leave to-day for Versailles, Ky., to join her husband, who has been there several weeks and has established himself in business, having opened a restaurant and bakery in that thriving Bluegrass town. Mr. and Mrs. Davis came here from Bowling Green seven years ago and they have many friends here who regret to see them leave Hopkinsville. Davis is a stirring and energetic business man, whose career here was exceedingly successful until he suffered a heavy loss in the fire that destroyed the Ellis Home, in which he was located. The people of Versailles will find him to be a capable and reliable business man. Mrs. Davis is a real factor in his success, as she is an active assistant in his work and will do much to increase the popularity of his place of business.

Prison Labor Contract.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 29.—Two hundred men, now inmates of the state reformatory, will today enter the employ of the Hoge-Montgomery company, shoe manufacturers. All of these employed are experienced shoe men and the state will be paid 75 cents a day for each man's labor.
The contract has not been signed, but it is said to have been given the approval of Prison Commissioners Henry Lawrence and M. F. Conley, who heretofore have opposed renewal of any old contracts for prison labor, insisting that the state must not bind itself with long contracts.
Such contracts, they said, would prevent the employ of convicts on the public highways when the constitution is amended, as it is certain to be by action of next legislature, when a referendum will be authorized for the acceptance or rejection of the proposal.

an old wound in the neck, which had never ceased to give him trouble.
He was a brave soldier and loved the cause for which he shed his blood and will be missed in the thin gray column that is growing thinner every

Hot Shot.

The Court of Appeals has knocked out a $200,000 bond issue in Lexington because the election was not properly advertised. We have a Prohibition Executive Committee down here in Muhlenberg County which we would like to have the Court of Appeals knock out or knock down, or do something to, because they will not properly, or in any other way, pay for the advertising they worked off on an unsuspecting publisher who, like Little Red Riding Hood, took them for what they pretended to be.

FIND LAW CODE 4,000 YEARS OLD

Babylonian Tablet Tells of Legislation in Force Two Thousand Five Hundred B. C.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29.—A Babylonian tablet, believed to have been buried in the earth more than 4,000 years, and containing the earliest law code, recently has been unearthed, and is now in possession of Yale University, it became known today. Part of the tablet has been cleaned and deciphered.

The laws are written in the Sumerian language, the language of Southern Babylonia prior to its conquest by the Semites or Accadians, in the time of Hammurabi. Owing to the imperfect knowledge of the language, deciphering is difficult, but the university expects to have complete translations made and published.

The laws that have been translated refer to legislation; concerning injury to women; the repudiation of children who have perhaps been adopted; elopement; the hire of boats and cattle; and provisions for the killing of a hired ox by a lion.

These laws are believed to have been written about 2,500 B. C.

Grocery Clerk Found That Putting Up Orders and Talking Baseball Didn't Go Together.

The manager of a large Portland (Ore.) grocery store took great pleasure in relating a few "plays" pulled off by one of his clerks. This clerk is a "fan." One of those absorbed, wild and woolly baseball lovers who can talk, expand and argue the great game at any time and anywhere. His duties at the store keep him anchored most of the time, though on special occasions he is assigned to the teams.

Among his duties is to put up orders for customers in the high-toned section of the city. While he was engaged in this work the other day one of his chums (also a "fan") came in and they began to talk baseball. The grocery clerk kept on putting up the orders, but his thoughts were all on that important subject, baseball.

In the course of his argument he went to the shelf and got a case of starch instead of a package of sugar; put up tomatoes instead of potatoes, put in a bag of flour in place of an order for lard; read maple sirup instead of condensed milk, and would have drawn molasses into the kerosene can if some one had not called him away for a moment as he started for the molasses barrel.

For a time this was the way that his orders went out and it caused a riot among three or four of the best customers. He is still a good deal of a "fan," but he is not going to put up any orders while engrossed in his favorite subject.

Protested War With England.

One hundred years ago Massachusetts sent a circular letter to the other New England states inviting them to send delegates to a convention in Hartford to protest against the continuance of the war with England. The presence of the British and the demoralization of the shipping had long weighed heavily on the people of New England. While the loyalty and patriotism of the citizens were never in question, there was a certain element, made up principally of the political opponents of President Madison, who were confirmed in their hostility to the war. It was said at the time that their opposition went so far as to contemplate secession or obstruction to the government in prosecuting the war, but this was stoutly denied by those responsible for the Hartford convention.

Land Engagement in 1812.

One hundred years ago the Americans and British met in a skirmish at Lyons Creek, near the Niagara frontier. This was the last long engagement fought in the North in the War of 1812. The action was between several detachments of United States regulars, with a small party of dragoons and riflemen, about nine hundred men in all, and a select British corps of 1,300 men. The British made the attack, and after some sharp fighting were repulsed with considerable loss. The loss on the American side amounted to 68 killed, wounded and missing. Soon after this date the American army, after destroying Fort Erie, retired across the border and went into winter quarters at Buffalo, Black Rock and Batavia.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The year 1914 has been the most extraordinary in the history of modern times. It has witnessed the outbreak of the great European war, a struggle so titanic that it makes all others look small.

You live in momentous times, and you should not miss any of the tremendous events that are occurring. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World. Moreover, a year's subscription to it will take you far into our next Presidential campaign.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD's regular subscription price is only $1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00. Send all subscriptions to Kentuckian office.

Tailor Convinced That Only Way to Get Results Was to Resort to the Ultimatum.

Tailors are a long-suffering race of men. On the least excuse—often with no excuse at all—their customers will do their best to get out of paying their debts.

Often had Mr. Coates, the tailor, meditated on this melancholy fact. Sometimes it was the bank rate, at others an increase in the family, strikes, lockouts, anything in fact was considered a good enough reason by many of his customers for not settling his little accounts. Now it was the war—this, from the point of view of the slippery customer, being an absolute winner.

The end of the month had come and gone without having caused him any extra work in the writing of receipts. His cashier consulted with him.

"Something's got to be done, Smith," said Coates vaguely.

"Yes, sir," agreed the dutiful Smith. "Shall I send round a gentle reminder to each of your clients, sir?"

The light of battle suddenly lighted up the eyes of the injured Coates. "Gentle reminder be blowed!" he shouted. "Send 'em an ultimatum—everybody's doing it now!"

GREAT NEED FOR COURTESY

Matter Really Costs Very Little, Yet It Means So Much to the Recipient.

After the nations of the world have proved that they are through with war by melting up all their armament, the great reform next in order will be that of instituting universal courtesy. This reform may be said to be on its feet, even at the present time, but it is wobbly-legged and needs a great deal of encouragement.

We have some very courteous individuals in our midst, most of whom were born that way and who insist on staying that way despite all temptations to the contrary; but we have some who are almost hopeless.

Courtesy is just another name for unselfishness. The greedy, self-centered individual is never courteous, no matter what kind of manners he displays in public. Courtesy does not reveal itself for effect; it is not calculating. It acts out of the promptings of consideration for the just claims and rights of others, and, in smaller matters at least, it is even willing to make sacrifices. It is the sense of service revealed in action.

When you give your neighbor a smile instead of a frown you do him a real service, for you cause him to smile and be happy. It is courteous, therefore, to smile.

When you smother the needless word of criticism you save some one a pang. It is courteous, therefore, to control your tongue.

It doesn't matter very much at just what angle you tip your hat to a lady, although it is commendable to regard such points. The important thing is to look like you were glad of the opportunity to tip it. That is the real courtesy.

If the world would start out today to follow two rules—smile and avoid mean gossip—it would be almost civilized at the end of a year.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Mott, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable. Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.

GIVING CIGAR TO NEPTUNE

How a Bottle Cast Adrift in Atlantic Ocean Reached Its Destination.

When the postman stopped at the home of Albert Schirm the other day Mr. Schirm and a group of friends were talking together and the friends were surprised to see the letter carrier hand Mr. Schirm a tightly corked bottle, empty except for a bit of cardboard. Their surprise increased when Mr. Schirm expressed no amazement at receiving the strange parcel, but made only the remark, "I see the cigar is missing."

Then came the answer to the riddle, says the Hartford Courant. While on his way from New York to Savannah, Ga., several weeks ago Mr. Schirm tossed overboard a tightly corked bottle containing his card and a cigar—he told his friends it was a ten-center. This was off Cape Hatteras. The bottle was found on the beach, Mr. Schirm has learned, by a Mr. Walgrus, a native of Fenwick, who is employed at the Island lighthouse, Delaware. The lighthouse man sent the bottle back, at the cigar went up in smoke.

CHRISTMAS PUDDING SAFE.

There is no risk of a dearth of Christmas puddings this year. The supply of raisins and sultanas is equal to the average at this time of the year, and the vessels are arriving from the Mediterranean at almost the same rate and the supplies in almost the same quantities as in previous years. If there is any advance in prices it will be in currants, but this will be very slight if it does occur. Greece generally retains from 20 to 30 per cent of the crop for home use, but this season 50 per cent has been retained.

GUNFIRE DISTURBS THE FISH.

A strange thing has been noticed in all the waters of Zealand. Great shoals of fish have come swimming swiftly up the streams, leaping out of the water as they sometimes do on fine summer days. In places where they never were noticed before there are now swarms of fish. It is thought that the vibration of the sea bottom caused by the tremendous cannonading disturbed the fish and sent them into Holland's waters to seek safety.

"Some people make me more than tired wanting to know the why and wherefore of things."

"I wonder why that is?"

GREAT WINTER CLEARANCE SALE

BEGAN AT

Wall & McGowan's
Wednesday, January 27, 1915. THE CLEARING EVENT OF HOPKINSVILLE.

Now comes the emphatic let go of all surplus stocks throughout every section of the house. Now the ultimatum of our progress in merchandising principles is given to every vestige of merchandise that has overstayed its time. A complete shelf-emptying of all goods that belong to winter is begun and will be prosecuted in a vigorous way with price abatements that are so stringent as to make short work of the dismissal by season of the hasty and enthusiastic responses from shrewd buyers. Practically every item in the store belonging to winter has been slaughtered to make room for new spring goods. With the many hundreds of items we carry in stock, it is only possible that we can give you a few, showing the great reductions in this sale. Join in the throng of economists, on hand each day to get choice from these wonderful values. When you consider that most firms are sliding backward during war times this move forward at this time again demonstrates that this firm has built its wonderful success upon just such values. Come and see the wonderful price sacrificing and judge for yourself.
